Conversations you should be having

Questions that could arise when making international payments

- What about if the exchange rate moves in the time from me sending the money and the employee receiving the money?
- Who takes on the bank charges if they are incurred?
- What about if the employee doesn't receive enough money? Do I need to send another amount?
- Why am I sending different amounts each month?

Our experiences

With offices overseas Clear has experience in paying employees in a foreign currency.

Movements In The Market

GBPEUR Chart

1.217 - March 2022

Key points

- Dedicate some time to go through your payments to see your FX exposure - you can do this on your own terms or with the help of Clear.
- Speak with your employees', suppliers and contractors to make sure they are happy. Is there a better way you could be doing things.
- Use the virtual IBAN to your benefit.
